

How is the Aqara fiber optic sensor

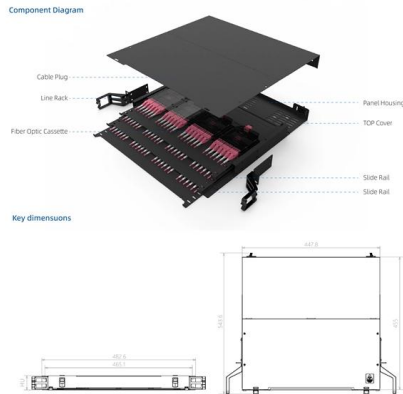

Overview

Simple and sturdy, usually white and nicely made, Aqara's sensors, switches, and smart plugs aren't showy devices, they're designed to blend in while still being functional, and by and large, they are simple to set up and install. Our products are best in class and are compatible with the major home automation platforms. These gadgets automate everything from lights to security without constant app checks. This is a specification for data transmission protocols in mesh, cluster tree wireless networks. Before we start, my home office has two entrances- one from my home and one from the street.
